USO – BECOMING AMERICA'S NONPROFIT

North Star: A top 10 nonprofit in America; #1 in the military & first-responder category

An Honest Assessment:

- Most Americans do not know the USO exists, let alone what it does or their role in the mission.

Strategic Imperative:

- Evolve the mission to explicitly include inspiring and mobilizing the nation as core mission work.
- Position the USO as America's nonprofit — where individual Americans and American companies alike feel pride, responsibility, and alignment in supporting those who serve and what America stands for.

Audience Strategy:

- Awareness must be the priority — pairing national visibility with localized, grassroots engagement — connection comes next, and support follows.
  - 40+: Target conservative and religious-adjacent audiences
  - Under 40: Consistent visual storytelling through trusted voices and platforms
  - K-6: Develop age-appropriate classroom participation model to establish familiarity and civic connection

Entertainment Marketing:

- Entertainment becomes Entertainment Marketing, leveraging one of the org's most powerful levers to establish cultural relevance and show American gratitude in action.
- We focus on experiences no one else can deliver.
- We prioritize high-impact, one-day stateside engagements.
- Talent is selected and engagements are reverse-engineered intentionally.

Transitions – Reclaiming Value:

- Eliminate Transitions in its current form.
- Replace it with CEO- and founder-led mission service — short, high-impact on-base conversations centered on lived lessons — reinforcing service members' value and helping them imagine what comes next.
- Establishes a high-leverage pipeline to highly influential individuals and American companies— future donors, board members, corporate sponsors, and long-term advocates embedded through service, not solicitation.
